A-maze-ing!

Help the alien get to the center of the star.
“Take me to your reader”

Do this with a friend, and be ready to laugh at the results!

One day, a kid named ________________________ blasted into outer space on a rocket ship. Outside, there was an alien with a head shaped like a _________________________. The alien said, “_______________________!” So, the kid said, “Take me to your funny sound reader!” Together they flew on a _____________________ favorite food until they saw another alien with ____________________ eyes. He was reading _______________________.

“Your favorite book

“You humans have good books,” the alien said with a smile.

“They’re all so down-to-earth.”
Spot the words

Ricky Rocket is writing a story about space.
Can you find some words for him to use?

alien comet earth launch
Mars meteor moon planet
Pluto reading rockets sky spaceship stars sun universe

Parents & teachers
Check www.ReadingRockets.org for all the latest tips, activities, and information about reading!

Reading Rockets is a national educational service of public television station WETA, and is funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs.
What a blast!

Connect the letters to find Ricky Rocket’s planet home.

Parents & teachers

Check www.ReadingRockets.org for all the latest tips, activities, and information about reading!

Reading Rockets is a national educational service of public television station WETA, and is funded by a grant from the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs.
What’s different?

Draw in the 10 things that Ricky Rocket lost in space.

Space jokes

Q. What did the rocket say when it almost hit Mars?
A. I didn’t planet.

Q. What did the astronaut say to the alien?
A. You’re out of this world.

Q. Why did the astronaut forget to return to Earth?
A. He was feeling a little spacey.